MAKE YOUR CHIPPING EFFECTS

how to use the new acrylic chipping products

This product from AK Interactive is the only product that has been designed that produces chipping in the same way as hairspray. But, with the big difference that it can be found in modelling shops, doesn't smell, does not stain, is not sticky and is very stable. It can also be found in two different intensities, to produce larger chipping or more subtle worn or scratches. The chipping fluid is cleaned using water and does not need to be diluted. We can place it directly into our airbrush or simply use it with a brush. Apply a nice coat of this product over a vehicle painted in primer or rust color. Then, paint another soft coat of acrylic paint and it will be ready for chipping. Afterwards use a brush to slowly dampen the surface. Be careful not to flood the whole surface. You can use a pointed tool to produce scratches. There is a danger that when we apply a coat of dense paint over the top it can produce larger chips, perhaps to large. Because of this you can use the pointed tools to have more control over the chipping process. Once we have finished we need to varnish using an acrylic satin varnish. And remember, more coats of fluid, bigger scratches!
