Arado Ar 196 A-3
Second World War

The Arado Ar 196 was the main embarked reconnaissance seaplane used by the Kriegsmarine during Second World War. Single engine with low wing monoplane had in the cockpit a two crew members seated in tandem: pilot and observatory – gunner. For its period, the Arado Ar 196 was an advanced modern aircraft. The radial 9 cylinders BMW 132 engine was capable to arrogate 960 HP. The airframe structure of the Arado was optimized for the embarked purposes on main Germans vessels and cruisers. It can be catapulted directly from the vessel and with its fuselage-wing hinges backwards folding wings system, it can be better stowed on board. The fame for the Arado Ar 196 is for being an embarked reconnaissance (the battle cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau had three of them on board while the more famous ship of the Kriegsmarine, the Bismarck, had four Arado Ar 196) was used also in the role of cost shore reconnaissance.

Italeri today

Italeri's founders Mr. G. Malservigi and Mr. G. P. Parmeggiani

Dear Customers,
We would like to thank you for your excellent custom and for your faith in our brand.

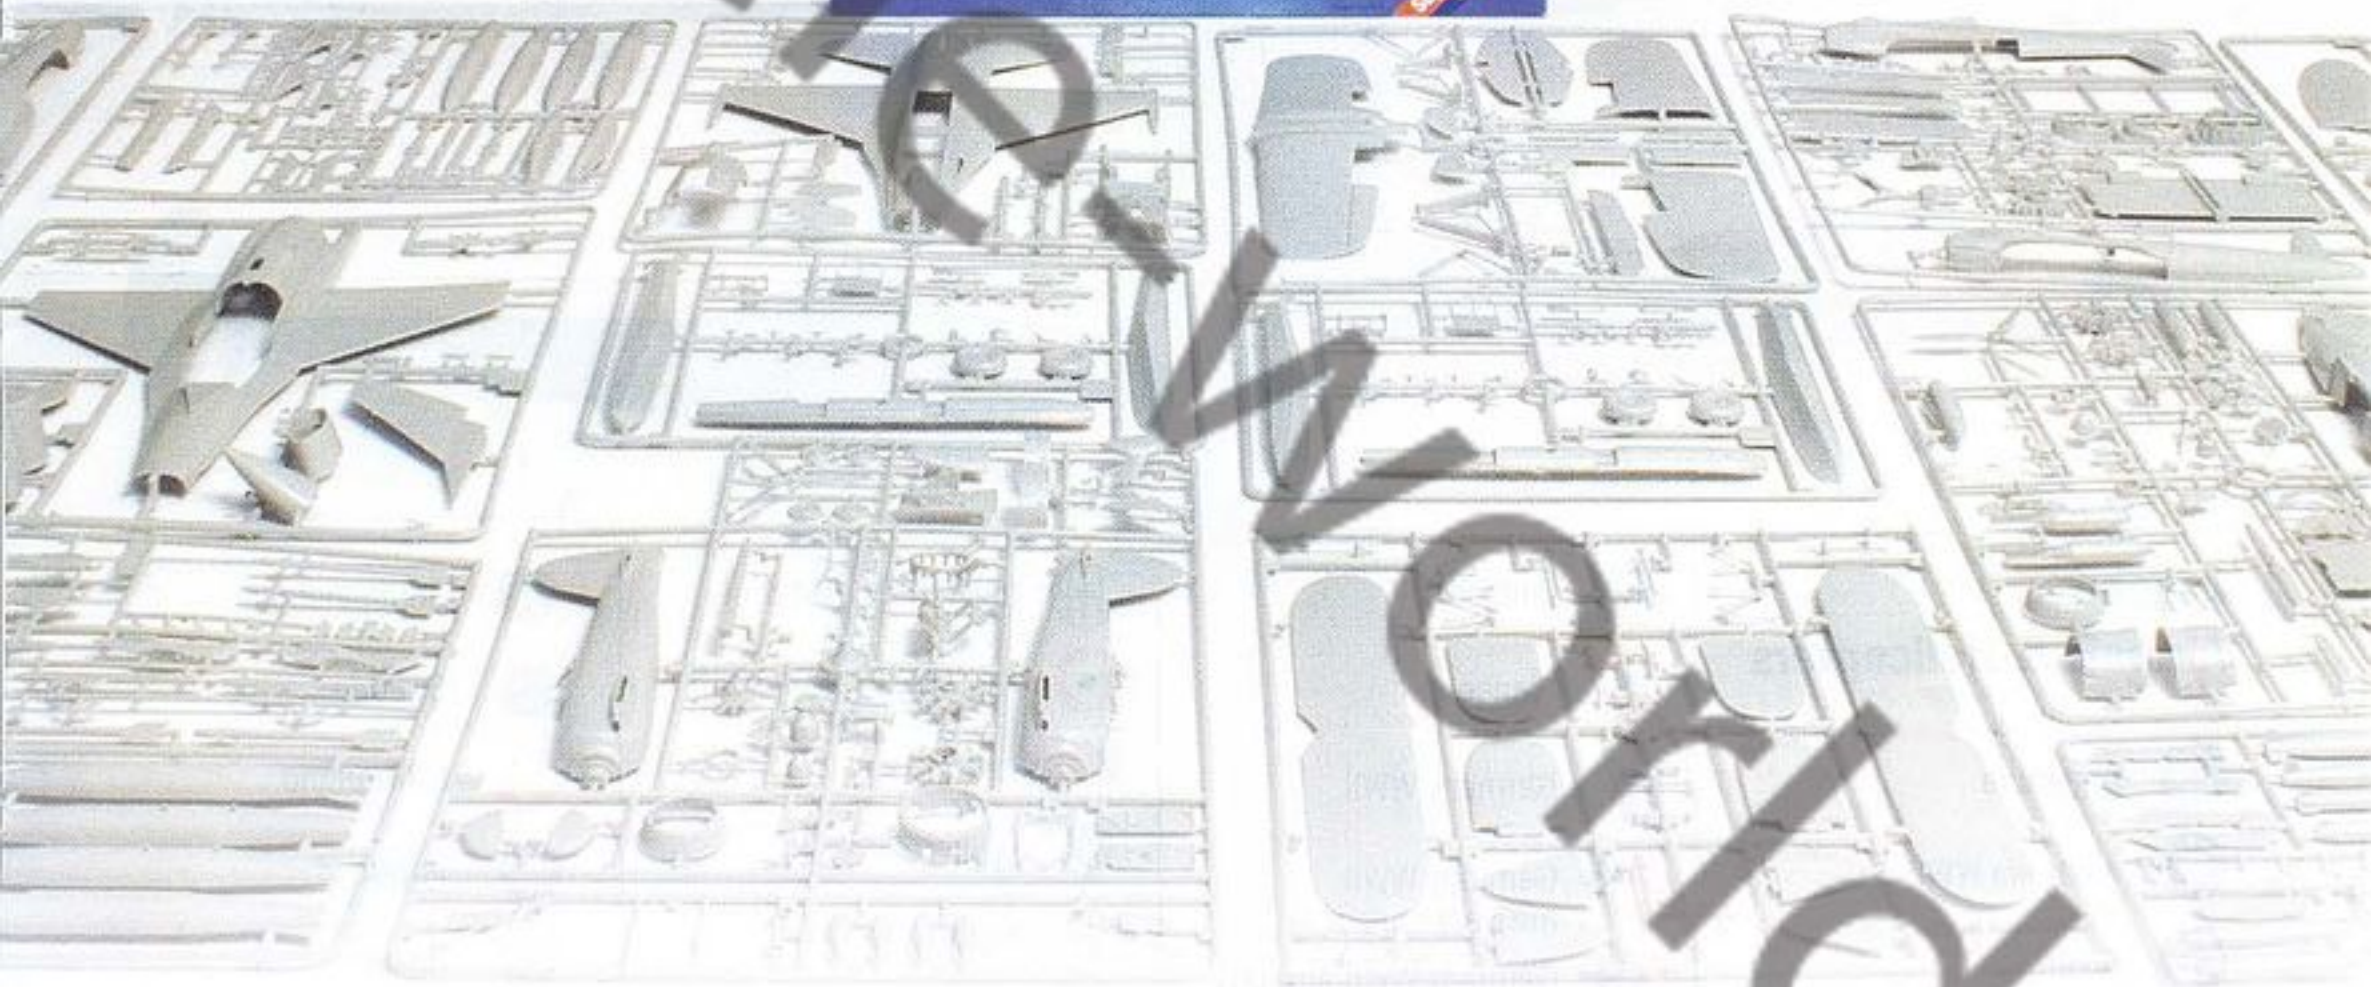

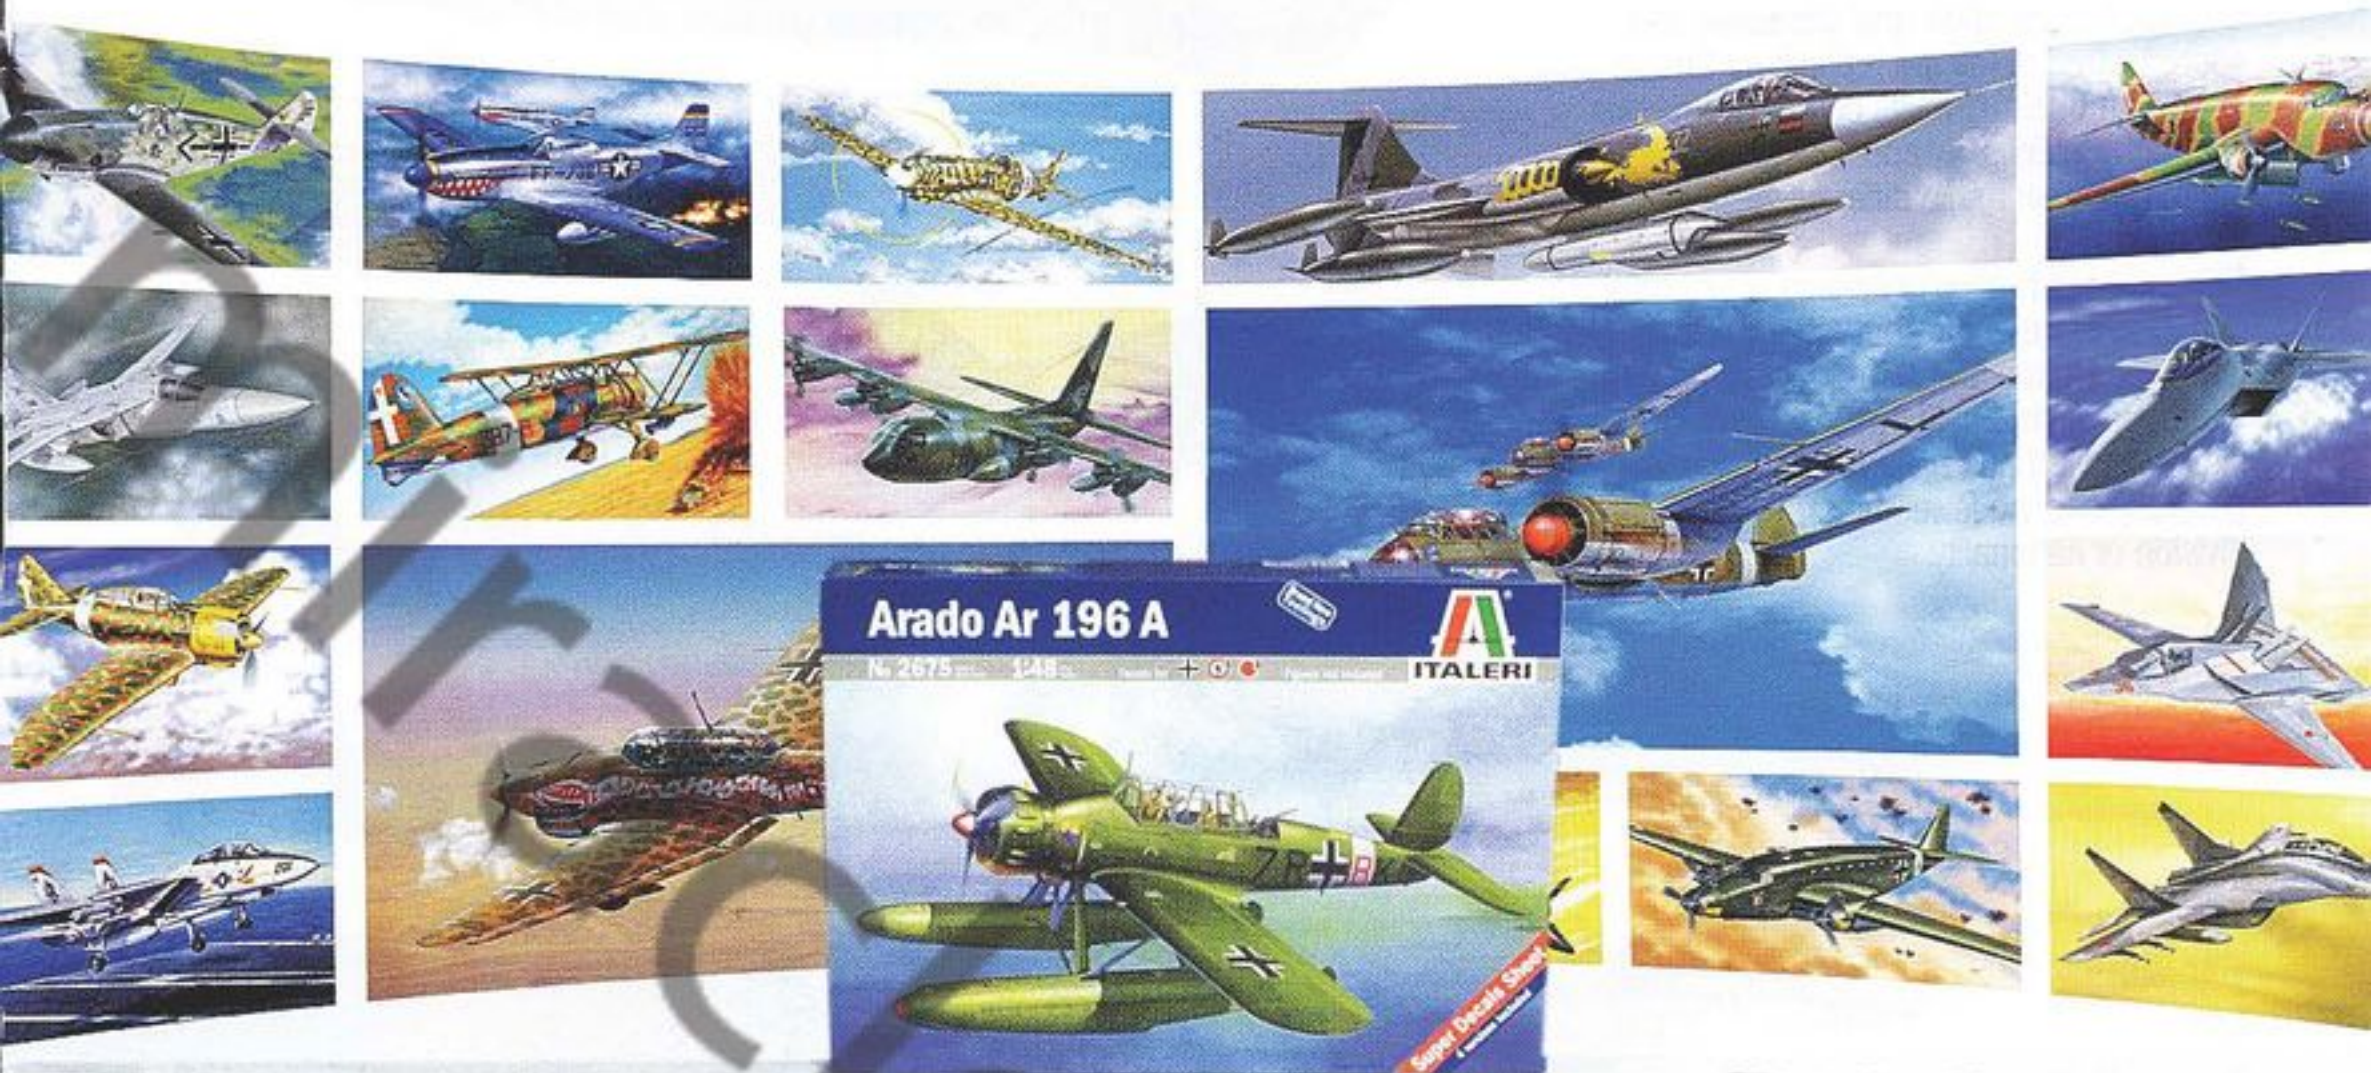

New products are being added to our traditional lines of kits this year, which we hope will live up to your expectations and be a useful addition to your collections. With these products we aim to satisfy all your creative needs.

The 2010 catalogue features several brand new lines: the Leonardo Da Vinci machines, railway kits at a scale of 1:87, and a fun and exciting activity set. We are also proud to present a new line of models and kits by Freccia Tricolori celebrating the 50th anniversary of PAN: the 'Pattuglia Acrobatica Nazionale' (Italian Acrobatic Patrol).

In 2010 a new website will reveal more about the world of Italeri: www.italeri.com.

Many thanks again to all our dear Customers,
The staff at Italeri

Every year, our large catalog of aircraft models grows, adding new and original items, ranging from accurate reproductions of historically significant aircraft, to the most recent projects of the aviation industry. Every model is finely detailed and has a great assembly quality. A great value is added by our vast range of carefully researched decals.

Aircraft

Care for the specifics, and obsessive and sophisticated detail are a constant feature of Italeri models. Our kits contain numerous alternative pieces: weapons or structural parts so that you can make different versions.

The choice of liveries or colours is essential, and even better if they have never been produced before. These are backed up by in depth research that is then used to produce highly detailed and accurate transfers. We generally offer no fewer than four or five types of division or nationality.

Historics

Italeri proudly presents one of the world's largest model soldiers lines, with models ranging from Imperial Rome to WWII. The crisp details, facial expressions and attention to detail on the soldiers' uniforms, are based on a deep historical and uniformologic research. The high variety of poses, (some more traditional, some more dynamic) makes these miniatures ideal for both wargames and dioramas.

ALZO ZERO

Italeri offers an exclusive range of products specifically designed for wargaming enthusiasts. The products with the ALZO ZERO brand, ideally suited for WWII scenarios, are designed to offer the highest accuracy and realism while keeping in mind the specific needs of wargamers.

ALZO ZERO consists of three product lines:

1/72 Fast Assembly military vehicles. Every kit includes two highly detailed, fast assembly vehicles allowing you to start playing in a snap;

1/72 vehicles in the traditional assembly kit, where the Italeri tradition for accuracy shines in its greater attention to historically-accurate details;

Many scenic items for your tabletop: from Atlantic Wall bunkers to several buildings designed for urban combat scenarios.

The Alzo Zero product lines perfectly mix with our huge 1/72 figure ranges.

Italeri presents this year a new line of figures in "special material" hard plastic, a real innovation in miniatures, that can be easily sanded, assembled and glued. The new material also allows for better painting and finishing of your figures.

Attention to detail and historical research are the leitmotif of all the 1/32 Italeri figures range. From Knights Templar to Napoleonic Infantry, we take great care in making sure that all details are authentically represented.

A complete and unique range. WWII light ships are reproduced in a "large" scale to feature every little detail with great accuracy. From the impressive Schnellboot S 100, with its one-meter long hull, to PT-Boat, to the "Maiale", you'll see how historical research on authentic period sources is our sole guide in designing and manufacturing our models.

3101 Self-propelling Cart

This model is a reproduction of one of the most amazing of Leonardo da Vinci's plans. It is known as "Leonardo's Car" although recent studies have defined it one of the first robots in history. The machine is drawn on page 812r of the Codex Atlanticus, with other devices. The "engine" is hidden inside the car, where a coiled spring stopped by a mechanical brake transfers motion to gears that move the wheels on the sides. Another system of gears allow for constant speed, with a clockwork-like mechanism. Secondary levers act on the two big wheels to steer the robot or move stage props, like puppets to be carried on stage.

3102 Mechanical Lion

Historical documentation tells us that Leonardo built a mechanical lion, but this project was lost among the more than six thousand manuscripts... until the Centro Studi Leonardo 3 discovered the devices in the pages labeled 90/v/ and 91/r/ in the Madrid I/ Codex. Their analysis led to the reconstruction of mechanisms for the lion's robotic movements. Like a string puppet, the legs are pulled by ropes that are alternatively pulled by a central spring device. The lion, a sign of homage from Pope Leo X and the city of Florence, was brought to Lyon, France, and on July 12th 1515 after a surprising walk before Francis I King of France it stopped, dropping a bunch of lilies. It can be considered as one of the first animal-shaped machines ever built.

NEW

3103 Paddle Boat

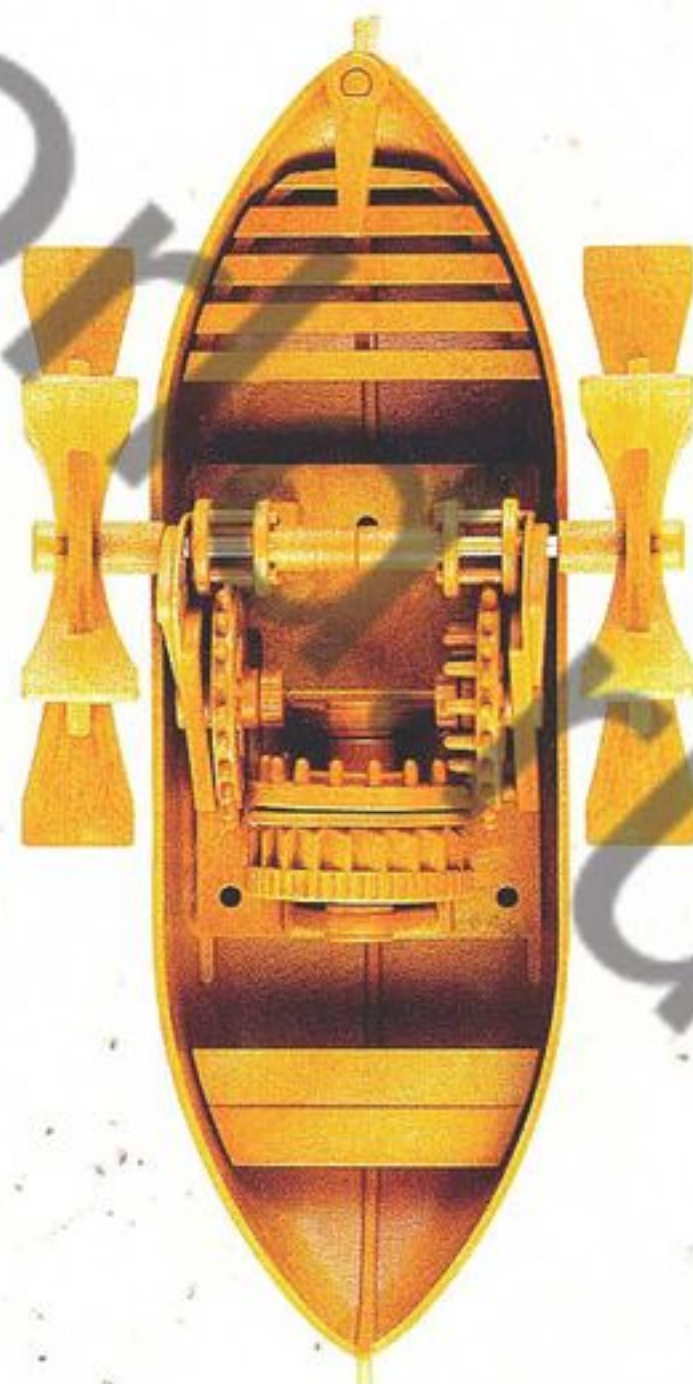

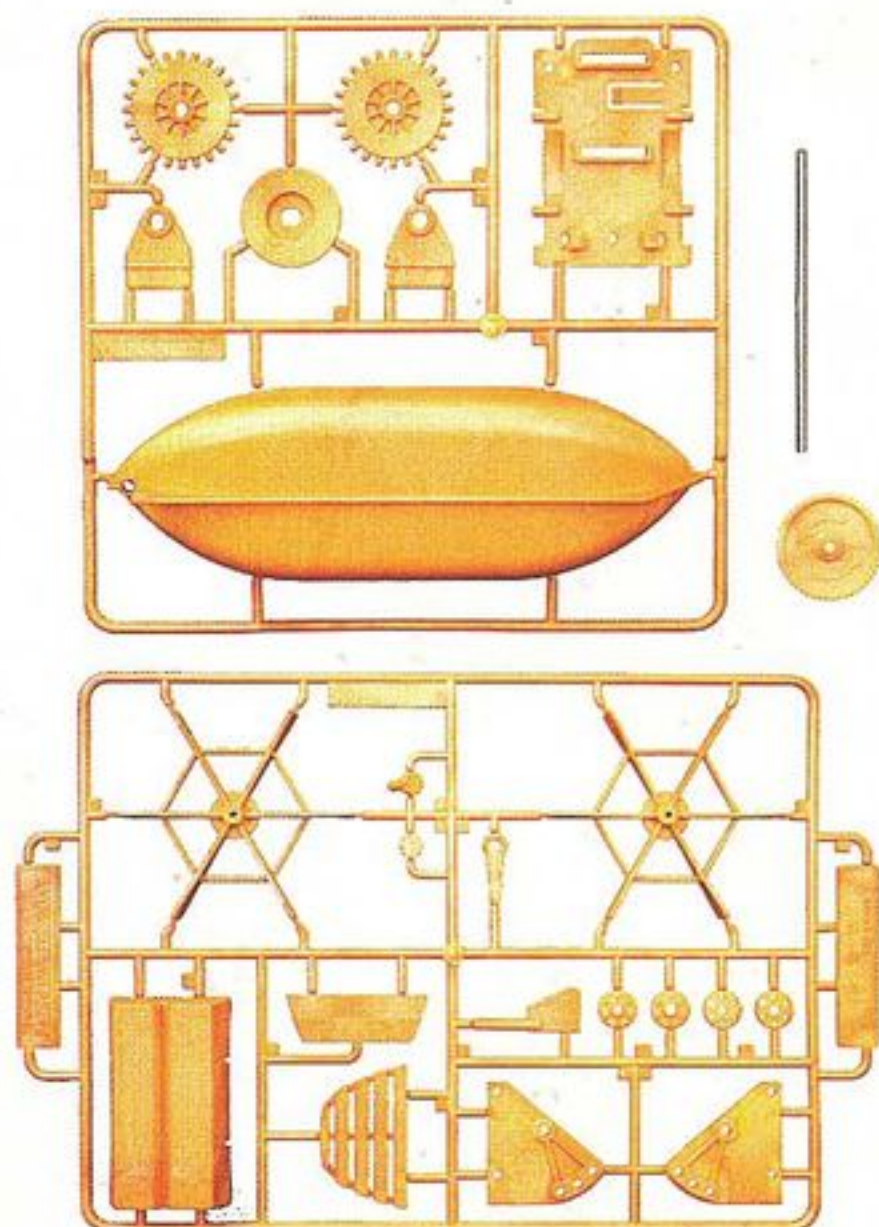

On page 945/r/ of the Codex Atlanticus, Leonardo drew many devices for the plan of a mechanical paddle boat. One or more sailors can alternate working the pedals. The pedals transfer the alternate motion to a central gear, where it becomes linear motion, and a series of gears transfer it to the two big paddles on the sides of the craft. The central gear is drawn in more accurately on another page, 30/v/, and the mechanism works through springs hidden in the two main wheels that alternate

3104 Multi-Cannon Gunship

The first page of Leonardo's Codex Atlanticus shows a mysterious drawing. Analyzing its details, we discover that it is a circular mechanism with sixteen radial guns. The central mechanism looks like a boat moved by a double paddle. This secret weapon could be a circular warship that could rotate and fire in a 360 degree arc. The central gear wheels allowed for independent movement of the two mechanical paddles. If while firing the ship rotates, the crew can open, clean and reload the gun that is quickly ready to fire again. A round shield can protect the vessel, making it a warship with 18 bombards.
